COURSE (RE)DESIGN IN A WORLD OF ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Get a head start on planning your summer and fall 2023 courses! This professional development session offers faculty an opportunity to consider course design within today's ever-evolving instructional climate. Participants will apply a model for planning courses that emphasizes clear outcomes, relevant and authentic assignments, and assessments that inform teaching and learning.

During this interactive WORKshop format, attendees should expect to spend significant time applying these ideas to their course materials. Both sessions offer the same information and provide in-person and Zoom options, making it easy to fit into your daily schedule. Please select one of the following:

Session 1: 9-11 a.m. on Friday, May 19, in ITLE 123 (Register Here)

Session 2: 9-11 a.m. on Monday, May 22, in ITLE 126 (Register Here)

TEACHING EFFECTIVELY IN A WORLD OF AI

The use of AI tools can help ease teacher workload. One way AI/ChatGPT can help instructors is by generating personalized, constructive feedback for students' work submissions. To use this feature as instructors, enter the parameters related to the learning outcome or rubric associated with the assignment, and select a sample of student work. Then, ask ChatGPT to analyze the work using the rubric and provide specific feedback including areas of strength and improvement.

Using AI tools in this way can save instructors time and enable them to provide more detailed and helpful feedback to their students

AUTHENTIC LEARNING MODULE IS NOW OPEN

On April 19, ITLE conducted a workshop called "Authentic Learning and Assessment: A Response to AI" to discuss ethical academic practices. A module containing the workshop recording and resources discussed during the session is now available. By reviewing this talk, instructors can begin to consider incorporating a student-centered approach to their teaching and course design. This presentation also serves as preparation for ITLE's upcoming workshop on May 19 and 22.

To learn more and access this week's module, we invite all online/hybrid instructors to join ITLE's Online Instructor Tips and Tools Community. Each week, a new tip or tool will be released detailing resources designed to enrich the quality of online courses. This community will also provide a space for instructors to ask and answer questions concerning best practices in online instruction. Click the link below or scan the QR code with your phone's camera to join in on the discussion!

WRAPPING UP THE SEMESTER

Reflection of course content promotes internalization of key concepts. As the semester nears the end, set aside some class time to encourage student reflection of overall course content.
