1. TRANSLATING INTENTIONS INTO ACTIONS

Finding the motivation to come back to work after the holidays is difficult. We wanted to share a great podcast episode where Bonni and Dave Stachowiak discuss the ways in which we might translate intention into action. As the semester begins, consider their ideas pertaining to getting things done efficiently, while not losing sight of the things that really matter.

5. PREPARING ONLINE INSTRUCTORS - SPRING 2023

This six-week workshop, from Jan. 30 to March 10, is designed to help faculty prepare to meet the challenges and embrace online teaching opportunities. This workshop is facilitated to provide faculty with the knowledge and skills necessary to effectively teach in an online environment. Structured as a fully online offering, participants can expect to work independently and as part of a cohort.

6. ONLINE AND HYBRID TEACHING RESOURCES

Teaching online or HyFlex, when thoughtfully planned, can be very engaging and effective across subjects and disciplines. Whether the content is taught synchronously (live) or asynchronously (on your own time), faculty members can present information to students, demonstrate processes, facilitate large or small group discussions, assess student learning and provide feedback on assignments and assessments. ITLE has resources to assist you in your planning for a short-term shift or a semester-long course.
